

BY A VERY CLOSE VOTE

Congressman Watson Wins With Educational Test in Immigration Test.

Whole Subject of Immigration to Be Gone into by a Commission to Be Appointed.

Washington, June 26.—Under a rule limiting debate on all but two sections, the so-called immigration bill was discussed for three hours in the house and passed without a yeas and nays vote being permitted on any of the paragraphs. This bill attracted much attention, the representatives having large foreign colonies in the districts voting generally against the head tax of $5, which was debated, and against the educational test. After a very interesting contest a substitute for the educational test providing that the whole matter be submitted to a commission was adopted by a close vote. The most important features of the bill were thus eliminated and the bill was passed without division. The text of this substitute follows:

"That a commission is hereby created, consisting of two senators to be appointed by the president of the senate, and three members of the house of representatives, to be appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives, and two citizens members to be appointed by the president of the United States. Said commission shall make full inquiry, examination and investigation into the subject of immigration."

The house then took a recess until 8 o'clock last evening to devote three hours to oratory.

Speaker Cannon delivered a mild lecture to the members of the house by stating that in these closing days of the present session more business of vital importance to the nation would be transacted than in the three months previous, and it was absolutely necessary that close attention be given on the part of the members to the business in hand, which could not be done unless order be observed.

The Public Building Bill.

The public building bill, carrying approximately $20,000,000, was reported to the house yesterday afternoon. Indiana shares in this distribution as follows: Crawfordsville, increase of $15,000 to present appropriation; South Bend, extension of present buildings, $75,000; Bedford, new building on ground now owned by the government, $50,000; Marion, new building on site already acquired, $50,000; Michigan City, site and building, $70,000; Bloomington, for a site for public building, $6,000; Columbus, for site, $15,000; Connersville, for site, $10,000; Greencastle, $9,000; Jeffersonville, for site, $10,000; Kokomo, for site, $15,000; Peru, for site, $15,000. The obtaining of an appropriation for a site commits congress to make an appropriation at the next session for a building.

Though the pure food bill has passed the house, there is a general feeling that it is too late for it to be reported out of conference at this session. It is said that the senate has no thought of reaching an agreement at this session. Privately senators who are on the inside are quoted as saying that it has been the understanding for weeks that the pure food bill should not become law at this session. They do not say who is party to the "understanding," but that there is and has been an understanding for weeks they admit. "Many important things in connection with the legislation are to be considered," said a senator who is a member of the steering committee. "The whole subject will have to be carefully threshed out at a future session."

WARNING TO THE POST OFFICE PATRONS

STAR CARRIAGE COMPANY GOING

Several carloads of machinery are shipped to Huntingburg

The Star Carriage company is busy this week loading its machinery on the cars preparatory to shipment to Huntingburg, where the factory is to locate. Several cars of machinery have already been shipped and it is expected that the remainder will be shipped Friday.

The factory's withdrawal from this city means a loss of about thirty people. Seven large families will go with the company and six or seven single men who were in its employ will leave also. The remainder of the employees will stay in Rushville.

FIRE ENGINE IS GIVEN A TEST

Small Boys Play in Water. The Engine is in Good Shape.

The old fire engine, the first one ever used in this city, was taken to the corner of Second and Main streets this morning about 9 o'clock and for an hour or more heavy stream of water was thrown along Second street in front of the court house. A number of small boys apparently enjoyed themselves immensely by running through the spray from the stream.

Stewart acted as engineer and Lon Ginn acted as fireman of the engine. Stewart crowded the engine with all of the steam that it could stand and it proved to be in first class shape, notwithstanding the fact that it had not been operated for two years. A crowd of about two hundred people watched the test.

THE PROBLEM OF MOST FARMERS

Feed the Corn to the Hogs or Sell it on the Market.

"It rarely happens," said a live stock dealer today, "that the prices of hogs are unusually high at the same time that corn is unusually low or that hogs are unusually low when corn is unusually high. Consequently there is a question as to whether it is better to feed corn to hogs and market the animals or to sell the grain. A great diversity of opinion exists. One farmer thinks one thing and acts accordingly. His next neighbor, with similar crop and stock conditions thinks the opposite thing and does it. It is only when the hogs are so high that there is no question about what to do that all farmers will stop feeding corn and will market grain. Under normal conditions, farmers are about equally divided between the two courses."

Corn is high now, but it is not high enough to make Rush county farmers stop feeding it to hogs, especially as hogs and hog products are above average prices. Commission men say they see no falling off in the number of corn-fed hogs shipped to market and no noticeable increase owing to a desire to get rid of them and save money.

There is such a demand for pork and pork products that "$7 hogs" are freely predicted by the end of July. With the outlook rather for higher prices for hogs than for corn, it is scarcely probable that farmers will stop feeding corn, it is said.

NEW FACTORY ON THE STRING

Improvement Association is Negotiating With Big Concern.

The Improvement Association has a new factory on the string for Rushville that it may be able to land and which, if it is landed, will be of decided benefit to the city.

Sometime ago, Walter M. Pearce received a letter from a concern that is located in a large city, but which desires larger quarters and good railroad facilities, and Mr. Pearce turned the letter over to the Improvement Association which has been in correspondence with the concern for several days.

The owners of the factory have been invited to come to this city and talk things over and they are expected here in a few days. It is understood that the factory wants a site and a small bonus.

The firm is a reliable one and at the present time employs thirty men. The officers of the Improvement Association are carefully guarding the firm's name and are trying to secure the factory in the proper way.

Major Hall says that he has received a letter from a factory that manufactures wooden ware that is desirous of locating here. This letter has been turned over to the Improvement Association.

SECOND OPERATION MADE NECESSARY

Drs. Sexton and Wooden Operate on Little Julia John of Shelby County.

Monday's Shelbyville Democrat says: "Dr. J. C. Sexton, of Rushville, assisted by Dr. E. I. Wooden of the same city, Dr. J. D. Green, of Manilla, and Drs. I. W. and G. I. Inlow, of Blue Ridge, this morning performed another operation on Miss Julia John, daughter of Wilber John, of Union township. The first operation was performed upon her ten days ago, but it became necessary to again put her under the surgeon's knife.

"She has been suffering from emphysema since last January. An attack of pneumonia left her in very weak condition and an ulcer formed upon the pleura. The removal of this was the purpose of the surgeons. Miss John was put under the influence of an anaesthetic today and the operation was performed about ten o'clock.

"The removal of this was the purpose of the surgeons. Miss John was put under the influence of an anaesthetic today and the operation was performed about ten o'clock.

"She has come out from under the influence of the chloroform all right, but is very weak. Considerable hope is expressed that this second operation means an end to her troubles."

A RUSH COUNTY BOY SUCCEEDING

A dispatch from Chicago recently announced the organization there of the American Weekly Publishers' Association by the publishers of weekly papers in the Central Western States. This announcement has local interest from the fact that Everett Sisson, the son of Lafe Sisson, the well known farmer of Center township, was elected treasurer of the organization. Mr. Sisson is manager of the Herald and Presbyter, the national organ of the Presbyterian church. He is also a director of the Winona Assembly Association. Since going to Chicago several years ago he has met with extraordinary success in the publishing business.

DIED SUDDENLY IN COUNTY JAIL

I. & C. Traction Workman Stricken Sunday at Connerville.

Charles Newhouse is overcome and forced to quit work.

Monday's Connersville Examiner says: "George Everson, who has been employed as stable boss in the Kepner construction camp, just west of the city, died very suddenly about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the county jail. Everson, it seems, had been drinking quite heavily and yesterday morning he was picked up by Officer Elwood on Fifth street and put in jail. However, after taken in custody, he appeared to be in a very serious condition and it was soon discovered that the man was not suffering from alcoholism alone. A physician was summoned and after an examination it was found that the unfortunate man was suffering from some brain affliction. All day he laid in his cell in a stupid condition and a few minutes before 5 o'clock when Sheriff Jeffrey went to see him, the man was very nervous. Mr. Jeffrey had just stepped out to call a doctor and while out in the other apartment of the jail he overheard some of the other prisoners calling to one another that the man was dead. The sheriff returned to the cell again and, sure enough, Everson had expired."

Silver has recently averaged 66 cents an ounce. It has gone up 10 cents an ounce in a few months. The Bland coin is no longer a 45-cent dollar, at the market price for silver. It is now a 51-cent dollar. Silver today is about where it was ten years ago when Bryan began his war in favor of throwing open the mint to it at the 16-to-1 ratio, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation. The Bland-Bryan coin may be a 52-cent or a 55-cent dollar by 1908. If the present rise is maintained to that time there will be a strong pressure on Bryan's party to renew its old warfare in favor of silver free coinage. In principle Bryan is, as he shows in his paper, a free silverite. Despite his dodging, his nomination in 1908, if it takes place, will put the silver issue at the front, and make the third battle more disastrous for Bryan and his dupes than was the second battle or the first.

The Democrats of Indiana, in their State platform, paid a high compliment to Governor Hanly and his law-enforcing policies. It is a matter of common knowledge that the Democrats always "view with alarm" and deplore in no uncertain language every act and policy of its Republican brethren with which they do not fully agree. When our Democratic friends met to formulate their platform there were those who desired, for political effect, to condemn the governor, and to criticize his conduct during the recent strenuous period in his administration. There were those who wanted to urge in that platform that a change was desirable, that affairs had been mismanaged, and that the Democrats should have opportunity to clean house. The governor's action in enforcing State laws through police boards was discussed and a shrewd plan was suggested to indirectly criticize his policy by a plank to abolish the police board system, through which he has brought delinquent local officials to their sense of duty.

And a high compliment it is that our Democratic friends pay Gov. Hanly and his administration when after deliberating over his activities, and earnestly seeking a way to make political capital for the other side, and to take advantage of the opposition that is said to exist in certain quarters, that they finally arrived at a platform which is silent on all those subjects—a mute testimony—and the strongest possible endorsement of his administration and of their belief that he is right, and that the people know it, and trust him.

Rev. Dr. D. J. Stafford of St. Patrick's church, Washington, D. C., who preached the baccalaureate sermon to the graduates of Ohio State university, deplored the pessimistic views taken by economists and scholars of social conditions and expressed his confidence in the American people to successfully combat all dangers. With this country prospering to a greater degree than ever before, there appears no reason for the pessimistic notes of the agitators. Let us prosper and be happy while we may, and let us do all we can to continue the present thrifty condition of our country and its whole people.

HEARING ARGUMENTS

Case of State Against Former Auditor
Henderson Now in Court.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 26.—Judge Carter of the superior court is hearing argument in the case against J. Oscar Henderson to collect $101,000 which the experts employed by Governor Hanly report is due the state from him. Under the old fee and salary law Henderson held that he was entitled to that amount, but after the removal of Dave Sherrick as auditor last year, Governor Hanly and other attorneys decided that the insurance taxes should have been paid to the treasurer direct instead of to the auditor, and therefore the auditor was not entitled to retain 10 per cent from that fund. The experts found that the amount retained by Henderson, with interest to the present time, was $101,000. Attorney General Miller, who is representing the state in its suit to recover that amount, argued that it is the duty of the treasurer to collect the insurance taxes and that if the auditor collected them and retained any portion for himself he was not acting according to law. Henderson was represented by W. H. H. Miller, C. C. Shirley and John W. Kern. Shirley contended that the law provides for the collection of the insurance fees by the auditor and that Henderson was entitled to the 10 per cent he retained. The argument was concluded today.

The state board of health is to make a determined crusade to enforce the Indiana pure food laws. At the request of Secretary Hurty, Judge Alford of the criminal court has instructed Prosecutor Charles Benedict to institute proceedings against nearly two score of butchers here who were caught in the act of selling meat products that were "doctored" with sodium sulphite and other injurious preservatives. Secretary Hurty appeared before Judge Alford with H. E. Barnard, state chemist, who procured the samples from the butchers on which the analyses were made. Details were furnished in each case showing the name of the butcher, the manufacturer and the kind of preservative used. Secretary Hurty asked that prosecution begin without waiting for the meeting of the grand jury. He and Barnard offered to sign their names to affidavits, and Prosecutor Benedict was instructed to draw them up at once against the men whose names were furnished. Secretary Hurty said that the matter was of such vital importance that there should be no delay in instituting proceedings. He consulted Attorney General Miller and was advised to present the evidence to Judge Alford and ask for immediate action.

Hits the Binder Twine Trust. Indiana farmers are just beginning to learn that they can secure as good binder twine at the Michigan City prison as is made, and at a cost lower than the trust prices.

Two kinds are made at the prison, Standard and Sisal binder twine, which are sold at the same price, there being no difference in the cost of production. Following is the scale:

50 to 1,000 lbs...9 cts. per lb.
1,000 to 10,000 lbs...8 1/2 cts. per lb.
10,000 lbs. and over...8 1/2 cts. per lb.

Nothing less than 50 pounds is sold. Orders are filled in rotation as received. Good notes due September 1 following the sale and without interest if paid at maturity are accepted in sales of 500 pounds or more. As a matter of economy and convenience many farmers have found it satisfactory to unite their orders in clubs, and a great many shipments will be made this season on that system. The institution guarantees the quality of the twine and treats all customers everywhere with equal courtesy and impartiality. Orders are received at the prison.

Businesslike State Administration. In the past ten years under Republican administration in Indiana, the state debt has been reduced from seven and one-half millions to less than one million dollars, and during that time through the same businesslike and economical methods the per capita cost of maintaining the penal and benevolent institutions of the state has also been greatly reduced. Ten years ago the per capita cost of maintaining these institutions under Democratic government when prices were low, was more than $18 more than now under Republican direction with prices much higher. This economical manner of conducting the state's affairs is appreciated by the people.

Governor Hanly has returned to his office, but refuses to discuss the subject of alleged gambling at French Lick. It was learned that he has been in conference several times lately with Attorney General Miller and that they are trying to find a way to close the casinos that are said to be in operation there, but everyone concerned in their plans was very reticent in talking about the situation. It was said, however, that action will probably be taken before long by the governor or some state official directed by him.

Harry Thaw Shoots the Eminent Architect, Mr. Stanford White.

bitt, the actress, whom he afterward married, and who was with him when he did the shooting last night.

Mrs. William Thaw, mother of Harry, sailed for Europe Saturday to visit her daughter, the Countess of Yarmouth. Harry and his bride were booked to sail on Wednesday of this week. No reason for the shooting can be assigned by friends of the family in this city.

Mystery still surrounds the cause of the tragedy, but its solution may be found in the words attributed to Thaw immediately after the shooting: "Well, he ruined my wife, and I got him." It is known that for years bitter enmity had existed between White and Thaw on account of the former's attentions to Mrs. Thaw, which had begun prior to her marriage.

AT AN END

Coronation Ceremonies at Trondhjem Are Officially Over.

New York, June 26.—Stanford White, the eminent architect of the firm of McKim, Mead & White, was shot last night and almost instantly killed by Harry Thaw, a member of the prominent Pittsburgh family, during the performance of a musical extravaganza on the roof of the Madison Square Garden. Mr. White died before an ambulance could be summoned, and Thaw was arrested immediately after the shooting. The Madison Square roof garden was crowded with a fashionable audience. While the garden was echoing with the laughter and applause of the audience, a series of shots rattled in the rear of the auditorium and a man in evening dress was seen to fall across a table at which he was sitting with a party of friends. The man who had fired the shots fled, pistol in hand, toward the nearest exit, where he was seized and disarmed by police. Instantly the great audience was thrown into a panic and a wild stampede occurred, during which chairs and tables were overturned and men and women fought with desperation to escape from the roof.

The man who was shot was quickly identified as Mr. White, but his assailant was not positively known to be Thaw until after he had been taken to the station house. The first intimation of trouble came when, walking in front of his seated victim, the man exclaimed: "You've deserved this. You've ruined my home!" and, drawing an automatic pistol, fired three shots. The first two took effect, but as the third was discharged the pistol was struck up by a fireman on duty in the theater and the bullet went skyward. The fireman took the revolver away from Thaw and handed him over to a policeman, who placed him under arrest. Thaw handed the policeman $10 and asked him to notify Andrew Carnegie that he was in trouble.

The fireman took the revolver away from Thaw and handed him over to a policeman, who placed him under arrest. Thaw handed the policeman $10 and asked him to notify Andrew Carnegie that he was in trouble.

While awaiting the elevator, a matter of a few seconds, Thaw's wife, who was Evelyn Nesbit, a member of the original Floradora sextette, rushed up to him, threw her arms around Thaw and declared: "I'll stand by you, Harry." There were several stories of what Thaw did after firing the shots, but a number of men agreed that he said: "That — will never go with that woman again."

Once in the police station he had apparently recovered himself and had become the least excited man in it. Standing before the sergeant's desk in easy pose, his overcoat hanging over his left arm, he first calmly took out a cigarette and lighted it. Refusing to say a word about the crime and asking that his lawyers, Lewis A. Delafeld and Frederick Longfellow, be notified, he puffed his cigarette and was taken back and locked up in a cell. The charge against him is murder.

Mr. White was a native of New York city, having been born here in 1853. He was educated at the University of New York and received his architectural training with Charles G. Gambrill and H. H. Richardson, being the chief assistant of the latter in the construction of the famous Trinity church, Boston, Dr. Phillips Brooks's church. Since 1881 the firm of McKim, Mead & White designed among other structures the Madison Square Garden, Century and Metropolitan clubs, the University of New York, Washington arch, the University of Virginia, and the pedestals for the principal statues of St. Gaudens, the sculptor. He was a member of the Municipal Art society, New York Botanical Garden society, Metropolitan Museum of Art, Zoological society, University club, the American Institute of Architects, the Racquet, Kismet, Players, Century, Manhattan, New York Yacht, Union, Knickerbocker and the Adirondack League clubs and the American Fine Arts society. He was also vice president of Madison Square Garden.

At Mr. White's residence it was said that Mrs. White was visiting friends in the West and was expected to return on Saturday. Mr. White dined last evening with his son Lawrence, who returned earlier in the day from Harvard to pass the summer vacation at home.

Harry Kendall Thaw is about thirty-six years of age, and is the son of the late William Thaw, who was vice president of the Pennsylvania lines west. He was a graduate of the Western University of Pennsylvania and when in Pittsburgh made his home with his mother at Lyndhurst. Since his graduation from college and the attainment of his majority Thaw has lived little in Pittsburgh. Much of his time has been spent abroad, and it was while in Paris that he met Evelyn Nesbit, the actress, whom he afterward married, and who was with him when he did the shooting last night.
